CONSULTING EXPERIENCE

PRESIDENT

J Allen & Associates—Correctional Healthcare Management | 2008-Present

Involved in multiple facets of the correctional healthcare marketplace.
Current projects:

San Diego County, California

- Working with the San Diego County Sheriff's Department and their outside counsel in defense of a class-action lawsuit, Dunsmore v. San Diego County Sheriff's Department, related to medical, dental, and mental health services delivered by their contracted healthcare provider.

State of Michigan

- Developing a profile of the state's current healthcare system.
- Preparing a summary of existing healthcare models used by the Department of Corrections in other states which includes the pros and cons of each model.
- Collecting and reviewing contract models used in other states.
- Developing a framework for assessment of alternative approaches to inmate healthcare.
- Preparing a draft request for proposal for the Michigan Department of Corrections review.

State of North Carolina

- Assessing the internal processes used in each clinical review, with a focus on the policies, procedures, and practices that impact the clinical evaluation process and a determination if these elements are in alignment with the unique characteristics of each clinical category.
- Evaluating the system's capabilities to address the needs of each unique clinical group, to ensure that there are adequate facility capabilities throughout the system (programs, staffing, bed capacity, specialty services) to meet the demands of each clinical category.
- Determining the likely clinical acuity challenges confronting the system in the mid and long-term and working with the Department to predict future populations of each clinical category, toward the goal of assisting the state in anticipated future bed capacity and staffing needs for each clinical category.
- Conducting operational assessments for facilities that have a specific medical or mental health mission.
